ALIGNING AFRICA'S HANDMADE TALENT WITH THE GLOBAL MARKET

AFRICA'S ARTISAN INDUSTRY

- SECOND LARGEST EMPLOYER AFTER AGRICULTURE WITH OVER 200 MILLION PEOPLE IN THE SECTOR
- Ramshackle shops, often no legal status, roadside salespeople/artisans
- Only ~25% as productive as formal sector firms

GLOBAL FASHION RETAIL MARKET

Despite the world having over $2 trillion in total fashion retail market, Africa still accounts for less than 1% of global exports, and less than 2% in global manufacturing

Country	Apparel exports 2013; US$ million	Percentage of world exports	Approx. no. of apparel factories
Mauritius	761.3	0.17%	174
South Africa	502.9	0.11%	450
Lesotho	417.9	0.11%	43
Madagascar	381.1	0.08%	71
Kenya	279.3	0.06%	22
Botswana	72.4	0.02%	≈10
Swaziland	52.8	0.01%	≈18
Ethiopia	36.5	0.01%	66
Tanzania	17	0.004%	22
Malawi	10.6	0.002%	<10
Total	2,531.5	0.55%

- All top 10 exporting countries are located in Eastern and Southern Africa
- They represent only 0.55% of world apparel exports

Start with Somethings Good

The art, and fashion of Africa are a cultural heritage that leads us on a historical and geographical journey. They embody all that is mystical, spiritual, and emotive about Africa, and in their purest form, beautiful beyond measure.

Welcome Messages

The Home of the Legendary Ophir!!!

Seasons change, Fashion changes too, trends come and trends go. But the work behind Motapa Wear is, but the cupped hands that shield the light of the flame of the African heritage from the winds of change. For centuries, the African Culture has been a tradition, and tradition is, above else, materialised stability.

The vast mineral wealth of the Historic Motapa Empire inspired many to believe that the empire held the legendary mines of King Solomon, referred to in the Bible as Ophir. The real life Wakanda!!!

Similarly, the vast cultural heritage of the empire inspired the birth of an Afrocentric Fashion

Who We Are?

We understand that for things to be implacable, the systems that make them must also be implacable. We are designing dreams, style, and livelihood for many entrepreneurs in the Sub Saharan Africa.

Marketing Strategy

Most of our marketing will be web based. Using our unique web based platform for marketing with direct link to major social media platforms.

Style One

Aggressive Marketing on Major social Media platforms (instagram, youtube, and Facebook). We want to sell a story, a story of the proud African heritage. So all the photoshoot venues will be carefully picked to illustrate the beauty that Africa is. We will use historic landmarks, and iconic places from all parts of Africa. The use of Web based platforms will help us reach the international market.

Style Two

Actively reaching out to our potential customers using mailing lists, brochures, and fashion magazines

Marketing Strategy

Marketing Strategy

Style Three

Hosting and participating in Fashion Shows across the Globe

Style Four

Cement a strong online presence by writing articles and blogs that will feature in the top publications in the world.

Potential Market of America

Our initial target is the American market. We're starting with African Student Organizations on various campuses in the USA. We have already worked with MIT Africans to make their merchandise. We are now aiming to sign up at least 100 schools by the end of the year, and each school has at least 50 Africans or people of African heritage.
